

D. G. Alter

David G. Alter, chief burgess of Port Royal, Juniata County, Pa., was born September 10, 1841, at Alterton, Cumberland County, Pa. He is a son of David and Sarah (Garman) Alter. His grandfather, Jacob Alter, was born in Cumberland County, near Alterton, and was of Swiss descent. He was a farmer, miller, distiller, an extensive land owner, and the proprietor of a clover mill. His only sister was the wife of Governor Ritner, of Pennsylvania. He was married in Cumberland County to Elizabeth Foutz, and had eight children, all of whom are now deceased: William; Benjamin; Simon; John; Jacob; David; Eliza; and Mary. Jacob Alter represented Cumberland County in the legislature twenty-one consecutive terms, being elected on the Whig ticket. He was a man of great ability as an orator and debater, and his record as a member of the State legislature was a most honorable one, his vote and influence being in favor of just laws. He was a Whig: he was universally respected and esteemed for his integrity and good judgment. He was a consistent member of the Lutheran Church. Both he and his wife died in Cumberland County. David Alter, born in Cumberland County, received a fair English education. He was a merchant during the greater part of his life in Cumberland and Dauphin Counties. For two years, he held from Governor Joseph Ritner the appointment of superintendent of the Pennsylvania canal. In 1848, he removed to Dauphin County, where he was in mercantile business until 1852. He then began to read medicine with Dr. David Clugston, of Perry County. Having completed his medical course, he practiced first in New Buffalo, Perry County, and subsequently in Port Royal, Juniata County, in which place he died in 1863. He was but a few years in practice, but was in every way successful. Dr. Alter was a Republican.

David Alter was married in Harrisburg, Pa., to Sarah, daughter of John Garman, a farmer of Dauphin County, where she was born, and of German descent. Their children were: David G., chief burgess of Port Royal, Juniata County; James M., of Lewistown, Mifflin County; John P., who died at the age of ten years; and one child that died in infancy. Mrs. Sarah Alter having died in Perry County, Mr. Alter married Elizabeth Frank, of New Buffalo, Perry County. They had two children: Elizabeth C.; and Alice (Mrs. H. M. Engle), of Philadelphia. Mrs. Elizabeth

Alter died in Port Royal in 1875. Dr. Alter was a member of the Lutheran Church, Alterton, in Cumberland County, Pa., the name of which has since been changed to Kerrsville, was named in honor of David Alter, he having erected the first house. He began business there, and displayed such enterprise in its prosecution that he ran fifteen cars to Baltimore to carry grain, lumber and other products.

David G. Alter attended the public schools of Turbett Township, Juniata County, during the winter months. As a youth, he passed most of the time in the store of his uncle, Noah Hertzler, in Old Port Royal, in which town he spent the greater part of his life until 1870, when he removed to Port Royal. Here for twenty years he superintended the grain, lumber and coal business of the Hertzler firm. In 1890, he was appointed by President Harrison supervisor of the census enumeration for central Pennsylvania. The twelve counties in his district were Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Cumberland, Perry, Juniata, Mifflin, Snyder, Union, Bedford, Blair and Huntingdon. In 1890, he was appointed ganger in the Ninth Internal Revenue District of Pennsylvania, under Sam. Matt. Fridy, of Lancaster County; he held the position for six months, but then resigned it, not finding the duties congenial. In 1891, Mr. Alter engaged in the livery business, at the same time farming in Perry County. About this time, he purchased his fine residence in the town of Port Royal. On July 11, 1861, Mr. Alter enlisted in Philadelphia, in Capt. William Babe's Company K, of Col. John R. Haslett's One Hundred and Ninety-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was in the service one hundred and ten days, during the greater part of which time the regiment was employed in doing guard duty at Rock Island in the Mississippi River. He was mustered out with the regiment at the expiration of the term of service, March 7, 1865, he re-enlisted for one year, in the One Hundred and First Pennsylvania Volunteers. In this regiment he was appointed sergeant. The regiment was on duty at Roanoke Island, N. C, but at the end of six months was mustered out of service, in the same State, on account of the conclusion of hostilities, when Mr. Alter returned to Port Royal.

David G. Alter was married in Port Royal, April 10, 1868, to Hannah Isabella Thompson, born at McAlisterville, Juniata County, a daughter of John and Hannah (Gilson) Thompson, both of Scotch-Irish descent; Mr. Thompson was a coach-maker. They have six children: Annie T., a very accomplished music teacher, who was instructed by a prominent Boston musician; James T., assistant cashier of the Port Royal Bank; David B., a student still attending school; Rebecca; Hannah Isabella; and Ruth. Mr. Alter was elected a member of the town council in 1872, and served in that capacity for twelve years, during which time he was twice president of the council and did much valuable work for the best interests of the borough. In 1882, he was elected chief burgess of the town, for a two years term. He was again elected in 1893, and has held the office ever since, discharging all the duties incumbent upon him in an able manner. He has also been a school director for four years. In 1894, he was elected a member of the board of health ; and in the same year, was appointed health officer. He has been a member of the I. O. O. F. Mr. Alter is a Republican. His family are consistent members of the Presbyterian Church.
