

History of Northumberland County, Herbert C. Bell, Chicago, Ill, Brown, Runk, and Company, Publishers, 1891

John W. Bealor, physician, was born in Perry County, Pennsylvania, March 19, 1854, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Weibley) Bealor. He received his early education at the common schools, and later entered the New Bloomfield Academy, from which he graduated. He then commenced the study of medicine with Doctor Richardson, of Newport, Perry County, Pennsylvania, and graduated from the Washington Medical College of Baltimore, Maryland, in 1876. He first located at Elliottsburg, Pennsylvania, where he practiced four years, after which he removed to Locust Gap, this county, where he remained one year and a half. In May 1882, he located in Shamokin, where he has since practiced his profession. He was married in 1879 to Mary, daughter of George Albert, and by this union they have three children: Benjamin F., Florence E., and Quilla. Doctor Bealor is a member of Shamokin Lodge, No. 664, I. O. O. F., and of Camp No. 189, P. O. S. of A. Politically he is a Democrat.

www.theperryhistorians.org