Isaac Crow, Liverpool, Perry County, Pa., is a retired farmer of Buffalo Township. His grandfather, Michael Crow, came from Lancaster County, Pa., to Perry County, and bought 400 acres of land, situated along the Susquehanna River, in Buffalo Township. He built a log cabin, in which he lived while clearing the land and developing a farm. He married Miss Howard, in Lancaster County; they had three sons and two daughters.

Jacob Crow was the third child, received a common school education, and was brought up as a farmer. After his marriage he settled on the home farm, and was all his life engaged in farming. He was an old line Whig, and afterwards a Republican; he served in several township offices.

Jacob Crow died in 1847, in his fifty-fourth year. He married Elizabeth Kanagy, whose death occurred two years previous to his own. Their children are: Jacob, married Miss Bruner, settled in Buffalo Township, and died, leaving four children; John, now of Clarence, Ia., married first Miss Sarah J. Grubb, who died, leaving two children, and secondly Hannah Williamson; Abraham, married Mary Bair, and resides in Buffalo Township; Mary (Mrs. Jesse Bucher), resides near Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Michael, married Ruth Foreman, resides in Cumberland County, Pa. Mr. Crow was a Methodist.

Isaac Crow was born on the old homestead, which he now occupies, and which has belonged to the Crow family nearly a hundred years, July 5, 1830. He was educated in the public schools, and set to work on the farm at a very early age. When he was seventeen years of age, his father died, and he and his brothers, after farming the homestead for several years, divided it, he getting the home dwelling and 87 acres of the land, which he continued to cultivate. He was also employed a short time on the canal. He is a Republican, and has held some township offices.

Isaac Crow was married in October, 1851, to Miss Elizabeth Holman, born in Greenwood Township, Perry county, Pa., September 1, 1830, daughter of Adam and Frances (Bunn) Holman, both deceased. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Crow are : Louisa Ellen, died in infancy; J. Pierce, born September 24, 1854, farms with his father; Helen Jane, died aged nine years; Frazier, born December 5, 1858, a farmer; Clarence, born March 9, 1861, a miller, married Miss Annie Kauffman, and resides at Milford, Pa.; and Laura C. at home. Mr. and Mrs. Crow are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church.
